Coping With Participant Relapse: Its Effect on the Drug Court Team, presented by Joe Lunievicz

As Drug Courts mature, and we struggle through the pandemic, longer-term issues of team continuity and growth take on increased importance. A more informal work environment, increased accessibility in the context of a dual criminal justice and drug treatment environment, the difficulties of coping with relapse and overdose, issues of counter transference, and the effects of vicarious trauma impact upon this. Dealing with abstinence as a distal, proximal, or mastered goal requires a further understanding of the context of relapse and a re-examining of a practitioner's standard of success. Self-care and team wellness strategies, in light of these stressors, will be discussed along with how teams can effectively address the accompanying adjourning phase of Tuckman's group (team) development model when loss occurs.
